We cover Northern England from the Scottish Borders to Yorkshire, to Cumbria and the North West. Specialists in building materials

As specialists in external building materials we deal with enquiries at an early stage and indeed normally well before construction commences.

We are in an ideal position to be a single source for all external materials, and in fact were first introduced to the idea by various clients who liked our personal approach and keen prices, but asked why we didn't offer a more comprehensive range of products!

We have since sourced products from all corners of the market, using manufacturers both national and from abroad to fine tune a package of materials especially suited for the outer skin of any building.

The result of this endeavour has produced a portfolio of materials to cater for every budget, with an eye on value for money, quality, performance and aesthetic appeal, to give our customers a feeling of total satisfaction. Brickmongers Wessex Ltd are based in the beautiful Meon Valley in Hampshire. Providing excellent customer service has been at the heart of our business since we were established in 2009. Brickmongers Wessex Limited pride themselves on the service levels they achieve and adopt a 'customer first attitude'.

Although concentrating predominately on bricks we also provide a whole range of external products including weather boarding, roof tiles, slates and flint in loose or block form. We also offer a wide range of natural landscaping products.

UK & European haulage & logistics

McCann specialises in transporting building materials from factories in Europe to construction sites in the UK, handling the distribution of bricks, roof tiles and other materials.

McCann was established in 1972 by Managing Director John Mager at the Head Office in Immingham, North Lincolnshire. Most of the work at that time was from the local docks with import and export through Immingham.

Due to continued success in 1978 the business expanded and we increased our services to include customs clearance. This process gave national governments control and monetised the flow of goods across international borders, these new procedures offered McCann customers a 'one-stop shop' haulage service which had a massive appeal and also attracted new business to the company.

In December 2020 Brickability Group completed the acquisition of McCann Limited in a move that will provide Brickability with its own in-house logistics and transport operations.

Operating a fleet of over 145 trailers, taut liners and flatbeds we take great pride on the exceptional services we provide. Delivering for nearly half a century, our trusted skills ensure that each consignment is carefully planned, managed and tracked, to ensure your delivery arrives quickly and safely to its destination.
